

Abstract

The present invention provides nucleated polyolefins using shellac based nucleating agents wherein the nucleated polyolefins obtained have improved crystallization temperature (T_c) and smaller spherulitic size and hence improved transparency characteristics.

5

10

15

20

25

30